This conference - and a number of graphics conferences - publish their papers ONLY as special editions of a journal - in this case ACM Transactions on Graphics. This means that measures used in assessing conferences such as h-index and impact factor (from various sources) as well as publishing patterns using DBLP data, cannot currently be obtained separately from the journal as a whole. This makes it difficult to rank the conference as an individual entity, comparable to other conferences. CORE is investigating how to address this in future, but for now the B ranking has been replaced with the tag "journal published".
