ICCCI applied for an upgrade from "C" to "B". The committee considered it somewhat borderline, but in the end reached a consensus to recommend accepting rank "B". Information noted included: chairs included some with quite low H, but also some strong ones (including Ngoc, who always chaired, and has H=31). Acceptance rate was quite variable. The PC overall was somewhat weak, with the more established members of the PC not being that active in publishing (23 out of 33 had not published at ICCCI in the last 5 years). h5=14. The comparators were not that convincing: some were seen as stronger than ICCCI, and some were seen as weak (where the comparator should be considered to change to "C"). The appendix (additional information) was quite comprehensive and nicely presented.
