Many of the indicators (e.g. chairs, programme committee strength and their involvement in publishing in the conference, acceptance rates) were consistent with a B ranking, and similar to the comparators. A few years ago PAAMS was somewhat weaker, and also regional, but it has expanded beyond the Iberian peninsula. Most of the committee felt PAAMS should be ranked B, with one person considering it borderline B/C, and one feeling it was more on the C side of the line.
